Organization Set-up Should Secure Labor For Harvest

A plan of operation to secure harvest labor has been adopted after an exhaustive study by the Alberta Advisory Committee. The armed forces, war industries and northern construction has absorbed practically all the labor hitherto available for harvest work.

The organizations in which local committees will operate is the rural municipality. The secretary-treasurer if each municipality will act as the contact man both with the department of agriculture and Alberta Agriculture, will be in charge of the organization, and the nearest local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, which will be in charge of the placement of men. In case of emergency with the need and the members of the municipal council, the secretary-treasurer will call such meetings as he considers necessary within the area of the municipality to discuss with all those who are interested about the critical situation that exists regarding farm labor. At these meetings, it is hoped that a committee composed of farmers, business men, elevator agents, rural agents and other persons will be formed.

Armed forces instructions have been issued by the Department of National Defence to the officers commanding the military districts where, by certain regulations, members of the guard, etc., will be released for harvest work. This release does not apply to those in training, and it is with our pay and without many of the privileges that the soldier certainly enjoys. The number of men within the scope of this order is so limited that very little help can be anticipated from that source. The strongest representations have been made in view of the emergency situation to the Department of Agriculture to the Department of National Defence, National War Services and the Federal Department of Agriculture, pointing out the serious

ALLOWANCES AND PAY CHANGES IN R.C.A.F. REGULATIONS

Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters have announced through No. 2 R.C.A.F. recruiting centre, Calgary, a change in the pay and allowances regulations governing all trainees in attendance at the various War Emergency Training Plan schools and future enlisting. The change is effective Aug. 10.

To meet the needs for various air force categories and trades which required training at a "pre-entry school," were provided for under the Dominion-Provincial War Emergency Training Plan. The various provincial and dominion governments shared equally in providing a substance allowance of $10 weekly in the case of single men and $15 for married men. Now all R.C.A.F. trainees will be considered as any other enlisted personnel and receive the regular pay and dependent's allowances. Where quarters and rations are not provided $1 per day additional is paid in lieu of same.

With many of the hardships which prevent a prospective recruit's desire of entering the R.C.A.F. in a W.E.T.P. instructed trade now removed officials at the Calgary R.C.A.F. recruiting centre anticipate a rash of applicants for academic training for various trades affected in the various mechanical trades affected. Besides the aircraft school at Edmonton where recruits with insufficient mathematical and science education for aircrew duties attend schools. W.E.T.P. secondary schools, which are operated at Medicine Hat and Calgary. Aero-engine mechanics and wireless operators (ground) are trained in Calgary.

All students attending the schools at present are enlisted men in the air force "on leave without pay" for the duration. The cost of tuition is to be immediately recalled and have been placed on regular air force pay and allowances basis from Aug. 1st. There is sure to be a general rejoicing in the various schools with this news, as it will mean an increase of about $6 weekly for single soldiers that exists and urging that at all possible, members of the armed forces in training who have had experience in agriculture and are willing to help with the harvest should be released on furlough to give such help.

Canadians have over 500,000 men in the armed forces and over 600,000 in war industry, a total of 1,100,000 men. When it is considered that this total is almost 25 per cent of the population of Canada, it is obvious that the food production of the country cannot be maintained unless those remaining are willing and ready to carry the extra load. The farmers of Alberta have met many crises in the past, and have always come through. They can be depended upon to do it in this instance. If the organization which the advisory council herein recommends is set up, and the services rendered, the government will be able to help as utilization. It will prove not only of great source of help at a critical time but will build up the spirit of goodwill and unity that will be a great asset to the province for years to come.

The organizations serving on the committee include:

The Alberta Federation of Agriculture.

The United Farmers of Alberta. The Alberta Farmers Union. Department of Agriculture, (A.I.B.).

United Grain Growers. Alberta Wheat Pool. North West Line Elevators Association.

Alberta Association of Municipal District Secretary-Treasurers. Provincial Milk and Inspected Cream Producers Association.

The Rural Municipalities Association.

Edmonton Chamber of Commerce. Calgary Board of Trade. Unemployment Insurance Commission.

men drawing substance allowances. With the changes under the new arrangements will receive the separation allowance of $35 per month. Dependent children (boys under 16 and girls under 17) up to four are provided for with allowances of $12 for each for the first child, $9 for the second, $6 for the third and $5 for the fourth child per month. The married man must assign fifteen days pay to his wife.

In a move to offset the trained teachers shortage in Alberta, officials of the department of education are arranging for the opening of a new normal training session in October. It was initiated last year by Doctor H. C. Newlands, supervisor of schools. It was urged upon high school students who lack the necessary credits for normal entrance to take the course which would be held throughout the province.

Under the accelerated teachers training program the first group of teacher trainees who formed part of a selective class chosen from the various schools in the province will be available for practice teaching in rural schools when these open in September. Other groups will be available for rural practice work at later dates.

PERSONAL BUDGETS MANDATORY

For two years, citizens of Canada have been urged to set up budgets for personal living. In view of the greatest need to divert as much as possible from personal incomes to Canada's war chest through the purchase of bonds and certificates. At this point, that advice holds good, but will stand of being offered casually it will have to be shouted from the rooftops.

Unpatriotic Canadians can continue to live the same kind of private life during the coming year as they have enjoyed during the past year in spite of sharp increases in income taxation. They can do this by cutting out their purchases of certificates and bonds. The patriotic citizen, who respects the obligation to meet the obligations of a war for his freedom, can not maintain the same standard of living during the coming year as he has in the past. He has to put not only more of his income taxes out but even more certificates and bonds than ever before.

It is plain that in order to carry out this program, both the wealthy and property with slender means, will be forced to give up luxuries and more carefully, since in most cases reductions must be made in spending other than for rent, property taxes and food. And the only intelligent way in which one can spend according to general items is to set a definite figure for every classification of spending and keep within that figure.

EATING HABITS

Crusade For Good Eating In The Army Endists All Of The Movies

In a crusade for good eating the army is enlisting the aid of the movies in its campaign. Lt.-Col. W. H. Webb, former Mayor of Winnipeg and now director of catering and messes, appears on the screen daily to tell soldiers why they should eat properly for health and strength.

"The Ordinary System of Messing" is the title of the training film made specially for the Canadian army, featuring Col. Webb and a mess-room full of the youthful soldiers chewing the food well.

"One of the biggest battles of this war is being fought below the belt," says Col. Webb, talking from the screen with his old-time election campaign fervor. "It is being fought in the stomach."

He goes on to say that the army can put a new engine in a tank but it can't give a man a stomach. If it is to be fit by reason that a man wants to keep men in good condition for their own and the army's good.

Then, in news reel style, the film shows the wheat fields, the factories and the livestock farms from which the army gets its meat. The meat is delivered to depots, inspected for quality, drawn from the depots by unit commanders, drawn from quartermasters stores in camp quantities for the various camp kitchens, and the serving of feed in men's, sergeants and officers' messes.

The cooking is portrayed and the inspection of hands and clothing of men who have been sent to the front, regular medical examinations, the testing of the food in cooking and finally the system of serving with the men eating at tables and ordering bringing the food from the kitchens.

Winter training is another film produced for the Canadian army to meet a special Canadian problem. It shows how men should use their outdoor equipment in order to be comfortable and efficient in the cold, wet weather.

Both films were produced by the National Film Board in Canadian army training centres under supervision of the Directorate of military training.

Export Control

To All Preferred Fruits Trade Vegetables

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced extension of export control to "all prepared fruits and vegetables in any type of container" and to honey.

The step was taken mainly because of the crops and to the "amount of sugar involved, especially in the preserving of fruits."

"The increasing use of honey in place of sugar, however, has led the hon. minister to honey this week, has made it necessary to control exports of this commodity also in order to conserve supplies for Canadian use," Mr. MacKinnon's statement said.

The Victoria Cross

Royal Warrant For Making The Medals Held By Some Firm Since 1856

When Queen Victoria instituted her new decoration, the Victoria Cross 86 years ago, she decreed that the medals should be struck from the metal of the guns captured by the British at the siege of Sebastopol. The crosses were sold to jewellers who fashioned and inscribed the crosses. Recently stated: "That has been done ever since until now, when the supply of the Sebastopol metal has run out. In future the Matthees crosses will be made from a gunmetal supplied by the Mint."

The Royal Warrant for making the medals remains with the firm which was originally granted it in 1856. The committee for the crosses have gone through only three masters, the founder of the firm, his son and his grandson—one of the present members who is in the army.

Located in London, Ontario, at the jeweller's is a "jeweler" recording the names and valorous war deeds of the V.C. winners since the days of Midshipman Charles David Lucas, first to be awarded the Cross for throwng a hand grenade into the hold of a ship into the Baltic Sea in 1854—two years before the institution of the award. It lists nearly 1,100 names. The last award was made in 1920 and there 525 awards have been made since the end of the Crimean War, and 633 in the Great War. The 32 V.C.s in this war have been won by 17 army men, eight airmen and seven naval men. A new name has yet won the Cross since which men have been eligible since 1920. — The Rally (Aldershot).

Oriental Commodities

To Be Grown in Central America By Private Company

The United Fruit Company has announced that it will sponsor the development in Central America of crude rubber and other commodities for the United States market when Japan overran the Far East.

The company, the world's biggest commercial farming organization, will grow natural rubber, abaca (hemp), tinmines, teakwood, tung oil, redwood, pineapples, cotton, tobacco, lemons, cassia oils, locust (vegetable soap) and castor oil. The project will be started first in Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama, and later in Mexico, Central America and the West Indies.

Company officials said the project was intended to encourage native landowners to produce the crops, with United Fruit acting chiefly as a mid-deman.

Using Robot Planter

British Invention Can Be Adjusted To Handle Any Plants

One thousand machines which plant young cabbages at the astonishing rate of 200 a minute are now helping the farmers of Britain to speed up food production.

Hitched to a tractor, the robot planter has a travelling chain of iron fingers to which the plants are attached so that when the planter moves along the rows the plants are suspended by these fingers and are held in the same time as the plant is released, two wheels firmly press down the soil around it. A water tank holding 40 gallons is also fitted to the machine so that an adjustable quantity of water automatically pours into the furrow at the roots of the plants.

From one to four men can plant 1,000 cabbages with an average of 3,000 each person per hour, thus making an immense saving in time and labor. The spacing in the rows of plants is mechanically accurate and can be controlled and adjusted to suit the needs required; the depth at which the seedlings are planted is also adjustable.

The robot can also plant potatoes by a similar arrangement of special cups attached to the fingers. It can be used for lettuces, onions, radishes, swedes, sugar beets, strawberries and tomatoes. Its iron fingers have a rubber covering which enables them to handle the most delicate plants quite gently while placing them firmly and evenly in the furrows.

The machine, which is a British invention, is now being marketed at a cost of more than $1,000 a year. It is electrically welded and made with great precision. The Ministry of Agriculture has bought a large number for Britain's war agricultural committees set up in those districts.

Salvage Collections

Proceeds To Be Used For Recreational Facilities Service

Proceeds from salvage collection across the dominion will be used henceforth to provide recreation facilities for Canada's fighting men through citizens' committees, it was announced at a press conference in Ottawa.

The announcement was made jointly by Charles LaFerte, national salvage director, and George Pifher, director of voluntary and auxiliary services, who outlined a salvage program to date and told of the new plan, which will mean that money from salvage will be used in the community where it is raised.

The committee will co-ordinate all voluntary services in their respective communities for the provision of dry canteens, entertainment, sports facilities, reading rooms, housing committees and other facilities. The change applies only outside military camps, and the new plan will permit continuing to provide money for entertainment in those establishments.

WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD

Basic ceiling prices on spring and summer lamb was brought back into effect on August 16. The maximum price of lamb will be the ceiling price established by each seller in the basic period September 15 to October 12.

Wool producers are advised that there is risk, and the cost of holding over 1942 wool until the hope of more favorable price later. The Canadian Wool Board Limited states that the price to all growers by grades on the 1942 clip will be on a similar basis irrespective of time of delivery.

The producer takes a chance that wool will deteriorate if held over under unsuitable storage conditions, and is without payment as well. Any competent grader can readily distinguish new clip wool from those of the previous season. This summer's clip held until next season would still be graded as the 1942 clip, it is affirmed.

Truckers moving grain for farmers will charge the prices established in the basic period last fall, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces. Such prices will apply as the maximum for this season. Also, owing to a very limited amount of new equipment available, farmers will have to use whatever trucks are available to transport their grain. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board requires that the truck or trailer used in carrying grain is only obtainable through special permit from the Motor Vehicle Controller, who must be satisfied that it is to be used only for essential purposes, and that satisfactory used equipment is not otherwise available.

Watch your tires is a warning to farmers, who will be hauling loads of grain in their trucks. The rubber shortage is so acute that farmers everywhere are asked to take great care not to put too high pressure in their tires and truck. Weighting is also prohibited. When the tires have been loading 75 or 80 bushels of grain into three quarter-ton trucks on tires unsafe to carry over 50 bushels.

In the recent order permitting harvester to ride on trucks from place to place during the threshing season it was pointed out that the ruling was subject to provincial regulations, which when in Alberta, do not require farmers to have permits for carrying any passengers, except in the course of farm transactions, or carrying help, members of their families or neighbors to nearby towns on threshing trips.

Permits are needed to carry crews to logging or lumber camps when no other means of transportation is available.

Permits are needed by painters and plumbers.

Permits are required by farmers driving trucks on Sundays.

Permits may be secured in necessary cases when truck drivers carry passengers when no other means of transportation is available, by bus, train or boat.

Rumor of rationing of clothing in the near future is mentioned by officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board who say the rumor is news to them and that there is no foundation in it whatever.

Unnecessary buying is against the law, rationing is not mentioned by officials to Canadian economy. But it might be an incentive to some people to buy on a buying spree.

Walter S. Campbell, regional representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has no foundation for the rumors that clothing or my other commodity will be rationed.

Canadian metal articles will be stretched out by cutting down the use of steel, spuds and shovels, scopes and scrapers by one third. An even hundred different weights of axes and adzes have been eliminated by the fabric steel administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. All very practical.

Very practical too is the Toronto firm which is making cases for lip-(Continued on another page)

Grain Handling Charges Reduced

Due to conditions prevailing at the present time it is the intention of our Company to handle wagon loads and car lots of wheat on exactly the same price basis for the 1942-1943 season.

Reduced handling charges will be as follows:

One, two and three Northern wheat and

"roughs" of these varieties at less freight and 2½ cents per bushel handling charge.

On all lower grades at less freight and 3½ cents per bushel handling charge.

This means a reduction of 1 cent per bushel in handling charges on car lots and 1½ cents per bushel on wagon lots, and that for this coming year street and car lot business will be handled for exactly the same margin.

Ottawa, Ontario, HUMPHREY MITCHELL,
August 4, 1942.

Chairman, National War Labour Board.

Income Tax is Fair to All

In the fourth year of war, Canada will need almost four billion dollars. This is the equivalent of nearly $350 from every man, woman and child in the country.

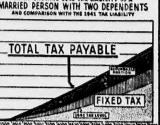

Even with the highest income tax in history, 52% only of the money Canada needs will be raised by taxation. The rest will have to be borrowed by means of War Savings Stamps, Certificates and Victory Bonds.

Starting with the first pay period in September representing September earnings only, your employer is required by law to deduct your income tax from your wages or salary, and send it promptly to the Government. Everybody will pay his share as he goes along.

It's going to be tough . . . but not too tough! Here are some good features:

1. You will pay a sum less, so that you will have more to live on during your pay period next year.
2. The National Defence Tax already deducted during the first 8 months of this year has been taken into account in the Table of Tax Deductions.
3. Though the income tax rates show a sharp increase over last year, a large portion of this increase is actually taken by the pay back to you when you start to work again.
4. The money you are paying for life insurance premiums, annuities, principal repayment of your home or personal debts may be deducted (up to a certain maximum) from the various portions of your income tax. In many cases, the deduction will make the payment of the savings portion of the tax unnecessary.

If you are single, without dependents, and not making payments of the types mentioned in paragraph 4 above, you should file Form TD-1 with your employer. Otherwise, you may not be allowed the credits to which you are entitled. DO NOT DELAY. File Form TD-1 with your employer at once so that you may get the full allowances from the start.

CHINESE CLUB

First One Has Been Opened At British Port

The opening of Britain's first Chinese Society's Club by Dr. Wellington Koo, at Penang, Linsome recalls the lured and somewhat exaggerated stories of Oriental night life which visitors were supposed to see if they knew how to go about it.

Many visits to Linchow failed to produce for me any other impression than that most of the inhabitants worked so hard they hadn't much time for luxuriant. Perhaps my imagination was not so versatile as a fiction writer's.

Chinatown's new club is the first of a series to be opened at our principal ports. The manager and wife expect to offer chinamen and other refreshments will be prepared in Chinese fashion.

Leading British ship owners and the Port Welfare Department of the Ministry of Labor are behind the move which is designed to provide extra recreation for Chinamen who can meet on their own ground for education and recreation. — London Daily Sketch.

LADIES GROUP CONSERVE TEA AND COFFEE

Try Different Drink at Meeting

Neither coffee nor tea were served in the usual custom, at the quarterly meeting of the local Ladies Aid, but every beverage was used, and the guests commented upon its delicious flavor. The plan did not originate in the tea and coffee in deference to the success of the experiment, however, said Postum, "the beverage used, had been less expensive than tea and coffee and was a saving to the treasury, as well as a saving on tea, coffee, sugar."

Whether it's a meeting of a society or a meal in your own home, Postum provides the easy way to conserve tea and coffee. Grand, heartening flavor—economical—so easy to make,

Kept His Promise

But Sailor Had Narrow Squeeze To Save France's Present

Aide Seaman Jack (Rusty) Steel kept his promise to bring his fiancee three pairs of silk stockings as a wedding gift, even though it was a narrow squeeze.

When H.M.S. Wild Swan was sunk while returning to Britain after 14 months of service Jack managed to snatch up his stockings before abandoning ship. Yes, his fiancee, Joyce Brock, wore a pair when she tripped to the altar in this Middlesex town after Jack had recovered in hospital.

Boundary Line

Between U.S. and Canada Was Never More An International Than It Is

The Chicago Daily News says Canadian army and air force units are helping to defend Alaska, we are told. That will be nothing new to most Americans, they may have heard of the presence of our most northern possession. In the days before the Klondike gold rush of 1898 that beautifully straight line that appears on the map of the Yukon boundaries between American and Canadian jurisdiction and the old Royal Northwest Mounted Police "got their man" without worrying imaginary line they stepped over that imaginary line.

But boundaries between the United States and Canada have been imaginary lines ever since 1815, and never more so in the present war.

For Posterity

Share Of The Payment For This War Could Be Left For The Future

When somebody in the British House of Commons once pleaded for posterity, Sir Richard Boyle, a famous Irish Member of Parliament, retorted: "Ever done for us?" Mr. Hanson, Conservative leader in the House of Commons, while not so challenging those who handle eggs in any way from producer to consumer may contribute to the loss of quality, if care is not taken. The first place that should be asked to help him is on the farm. Cleanliness, frequent collection—at least three times a day in the hot months of summer and placing them in a cool place as soon as they are collected is important. There is no payment bonus paid on Grade A eggs for export to Britain.

There is something I say what he wants. Indeed, the basic idea of our whole economic and fiscal system is that expenditures and taxes for nations, cities, towns, railways, highways—should be passed on in part to the future; the philosophy being that those who enjoy sumptuous things should help the cost of them.

It should be that way in war. If this generation be willing to fight and die and tax itself to build or secure a better world for the future, the next generation exists with those who are going to benefit from that future and that better world should be expected to pay for it.

The question is: How much should they be expected to pay? One answer is that the cost of the coming generations living in peace with better tools and equipment should justify pay more than the present generation, which has to fight as well as pay—and can't take its time about it.

On the other hand, posterity might well argue that it shouldn't be left to pay too much for a war for which it had no responsibility, that we had right to saddle it with a lot of it, and for some reason we invited it to come to us to "protect" against it, or by our general foolishness. Posterity, we must admit, would have something there.

Whatever the pros and cons of the thing, one reality is that (as Mr. Hanson says) there must be a limit to what this generation can pay.

Taxes are odd things; odd in the sense that if you make them too high they defeat their own ends. It may be that we have about reached that point now.—Ottawa Journal.

London Saving Gasoline

Giant Passenger Buses Will Soon Operate On Producer-Gas

Twenty of London's giant passenger buses will soon start running on miniature anthracite furnaces so that they can run on producer-gas instead of petrol. In their million miles a year of service the 20 buses will burn 175,000 gallons of producer-gas each year, and if the use of the 800 London transport buses suitable for conversion are fitted up for the new fuel, deep-tank tankers will be filling in life jackets is under investigation.

The agriculture department reported experimental work being conducted in producing different types of milkweed and considering its use to the possibility of a production program in 1943.

Egg Quality

Eggs Need To Be Carefully Handled On The Farm

Saving egg quality not only means saving dollars, but it is helping to protect the heavy demand for eggs from the United States. Every one who handles eggs in any way from producer to consumer may contribute to the loss of quality, if care is not taken. The first place that should be asked to help him is on the farm. Cleanliness, frequent collection—at least three times a day in the hot months of summer and placing them in a cool place as soon as they are collected is important.

There is no payment bonus paid on Grade A eggs for export to Britain.

Losses from dirty eggs are usually the result of carelessness in handling and leaving the birds to run out of doors into muddy yards. Such eggs mean a loss to the producer of eight to 10 cents a dozen because they are put into the lowest grade.

High quality eggs follow with judicious feeding, a properly balanced ration. Clean nests, pens and yards will facilitate the production of clean eggs. It is best to hold them in wire pens until they have laid, in a wire basket. When thoroughly cooled they should be packed in a standard case with the small end down and marketed frequently.

Oil In Russia

Still Have Huge Supplies Of Oil In Storage

British oil experts estimated that Russia has more than 100,000,000 barrels of oil in storage or in production.

Regions other than the Caucasus and beyond the reach of the German armies driving south.

These experts, who declined to be named, said the Russian government could fight on for some months on the resources alone because:

1. Russian oil production is increasing in the vast hinterland far to the east of the Volga.

Civilian use has been curtailed since the war started.

2. Russian exports of oil, including some to Germany, decreased in the years prior to the war and halted entirely when Germany invaded the Soviet.

Use Of Milkweed

May Be Used For Material In Making Gasoline

Milkweed production may be encouraged to provide a substitute for kapok, it was revealed in a return表 in the House of Commons. The Royal Canadian Legion has suggested that milkweed fibers is considered a satisfactory substitute for kapok in flying suits. The Royal Canadian Navy said the suitability of milkweed in life jackets is under investigation.

The agriculture department reported experimental work being conducted in producing different types of milkweed and considering its use to the possibility of a production program in 1943.

Used Living Room

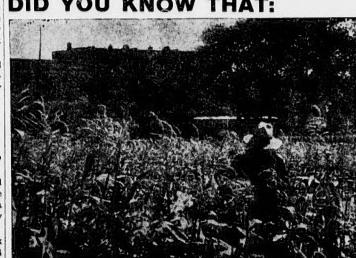

Kansas Wheat Belt Farmer Had To Have Storage Space

A story that comes from the Kansas wheat belt tells of a farmer down there who threshed a fine crop of wheat the other day but could not find a place to store his grain.

The elevation of the nearby town was, however, it centred rather upon the charcoal fuel to be had there rather than on the coke or anthracite used then.

The farmer, however, present success of British chemists and engineers has therefore been achieved from an entirely fresh start.

Twelve persons in Trail, B.C. were recently found guilty of smuggling grain and found guilty of each panel of $10 and costs, and the twelfth was fined $7.50. Prosecution was instituted by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. In Alymer, Ontario, a woman pleaded guilty for having more than two weeks supply of sugar on hand and paid a fine of $15 and costs.

Commenting on the rise of 2.4 points in the cost of living Index as compared with October, 1941, Donald Gordon chairman of the Wartime

Prices and Trade Board, points out that 90 percent of the increase is due to the cost of grain, and that this is accounted for by the increase in price of beef and potatoes. These are seasonal increases which in part are a normal yearly occurrence but this year were aggravated by special circumstances Mr. Gordon states.

The local school authorities expect much larger attendance of pupils at school this fall. It is estimated that for seven years past Janitor Dave Wilson has been busy cleaning and polishing up a large number of old desks that have lain in the basement for years in the hope of getting them for use in the new school. He has already set up most of the old desks in the school rooms. Down in the basement

Engineer Lester has been busy fixing up one thing another and installing a new floor. The floor had to be drilled down. There appears to be lots of water in this new well—about 80 feet of it—and could not be lowered when put to a severe test.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

Storage room for this present large crop will be scarce. A preference will certainly have to be given to dry grain simply because it can be handled with less danger of loss from heating. Farmers, therefore, will be well advised not to cut their grain this year until it is fairly well ripe and most certainly not to thresh it until it is thoroughly dry. Those who combine and swath will also, it seems, be in a better position to handle grain rather than those who run the risk of having green kernels or green weed seeds present in their threshed grain for even a small percentage of green kernels of either grain or weeds can easily contaminate the grain. Much grain will certainly this year have to be stored on farms. Grains, therefore, which bin-burns or goes out of condition will be a direct loss to the farmer.

It would appear then that any extra care used this year to ensure that grain is thoroughly ripe before cutting and thoroughly dry before harvesting will tend to avoid losses which will be suffered by those having available more storage room in elevators, because tough grain necessarily takes up more elevator space than does dry grain.
